Wills & Estate Planning

Military Wills and Lasting Powers of Attorney (LPAs)

As many know, 25 June is Armed Forces Day this year, so I thought I would write briefly about Wills and LPAs for the military.

Having served in the army before taking up law, I am delighted to be working with members of the military, both serving and retired, as well as some local bases.

Well planned Wills mean you decide who looks after your estate and who benefits from it. I strongly recommend that serving and retired military personnel consider having a professionally drawn up Will prepared, both to plan for you and your family's future, and to provide peace of mind.

Wills – detailed or straight forward - can be prepared quickly, and at short notice, whenever required, despite any Covid restrictions.

LPAs are also extremely important, for you and your family, such as when posted overseas (or at sea!), on operations or exercise. They again provide peace of mind knowing that you have decided who can look after your affairs should you want them to, or should they ever need to.

With my background, I understand many of the issues that you, or your family, may have with the various demands of military life, and if you have any questions, or concerns, about Wills, LPAs or related matters at any time, please do just contact me.

Having a registered Armed Forces Covenant, I offer a 10% discount to any member of the military, (serving or retired) and their immediate family, and any staff working on military bases.

If you would like to discuss any of the above - whether you are, or have been, in the military or not! - please contact me on iain@wanstallconsulting.co.uk or 01296 415700. More information is available on my website: www.wanstallconsulting.co.uk.
